WHAT WILL BE DIFFERENT ABOUT THE MCAT EXAM IN 2013 AND 2014?

If you plan to take the MCAT exam in 2013 or 2014, please note that the Writing Sample section will no longer be part of the exam. In its place, a voluntary, unscored trial section will be added to the MCAT exam starting in January 2013. The unscored questions on the Trial Section will test content that will be added to the MCAT in 2015, including content in psychology, sociology, and biochemistry. The Trial Section will consist of 32 questions and will be administered in a 45-minute time period after all three operational sections (Physical Sciences, Verbal Reasoning, and Biological Sciences) have been administered. Including the Trial Section, the 2013 and 2014 total testing time will be shorter than it was in 2012.
