GENERAL POLICIES
A limited number of waivers, which pay for tuition and some fees, are available to eligible students through the Tuition and Fee Waiver Program. These awards are for students in degree programs and are a part of the university employee benefits package. The number of awards and dollar amount varies each year based upon the release of appropriated funds by the State of Illinois, budgetary limits approved by the Board of Trustees, and program need. Students and employees apply for these waivers each academic term based upon a variety of criteria. Waiver means the amount of revenue that Chicago State University intentionally relinquishes each fiscal year for the purpose of Tuition and Fees Waivers included in this handbook. The tuition and fee waiver reduces the tuition and/or fee charges for the student recipients. If after receiving an award, the student withdraws from a class or the university, a concurrent reduction in the amount of the award charged and/or granted to the student will also be made, which may result in the student owing the University money.

The CSU Board of Trustees approves the waiver allocated amounts for every waiver program each spring for the following academic year. The University President authorizes the waiver programs, which are subject to changes based upon available funds, program need and the eligibility of students.

Each academic year, the University’s Tuition, Fee, and Waiver Committee meets to determine the waiver allocated amounts to be presented to the President for presentation to the Board of Trustees for approval. The waiver awards may be for partial or full tuition depending upon specific waiver criteria, available funds, the number of applicants, and/or program need. During the term, the student receives the waiver, the in-state tuition rate will be charged, and amounts exceeding that rate may be the responsibility of the recipient if resources are limited at that time. Tuition and fee waivers are not for the purpose of paying past due bills nor do they generate a cash refund to students receiving the award. Applications must be submitted by the due dates (see below) for each term.

This handbook highlights the various programs authorized to issue tuition waivers. Other programs may be developed on an annual basis from special funding sources. Contact the Office of Financial Aid to learn about other financial assistance programs such as scholarships, grants, and loans. The categories for tuition and fee waivers may be expanded or reduced each academic term depending upon available funds and changes in the process for awarding waivers.
The waiver is applicable to all baccalaureate, graduate, and doctoral students except for professional degree programs.

Students

Tuition and fee waivers are available for both graduate and undergraduate students, as well as employees of the University. Employees enrolled in credit courses should review benefits associated with their employment through the Office of Human Resources.

The undergraduate and graduate student tuition and fee waiver is administered and issued through the Office of Student Financial Aid. These waivers are contingent upon student eligibility, such as: pending financial aid, enrollment status, degree seeking status, satisfactory academic progress standards, grade point average, available budgets, and/or specialized criteria. Fees such as health insurance, course fees, program fees, resident hall fees and miscellaneous fees are the responsibility of the students and are not covered by the fee waiver. Students receiving tuition waivers may be expected to participate in various programs and activities at the University throughout the year. Examples of activities include academic affairs, student affairs, alumni affairs, and Foundation activities. Students receiving waivers in some programs, such as the Illinois Scholarship Assistance Commission (ISAC) Special Education waiver that require participation in programs will be required to sign an agreement that delineates and determines the conditions of that participation. Students should review the specific requirements.

All students who are not full time CSU employees must apply for state and federal financial aid prior to being considered for tuition waivers. Students must complete and submit a “Free Application for Federal Student Aid” (FAFSA) and, if selected for Verification, complete the Verification process, and submit any documentation required by the Office of Student Financial Aid. This application process will identify whether students are first eligible for other educational benefits.

Any undergraduate or graduate student who is awarded a tuition waiver will receive the in-state tuition rate during the time for which they receive the award. At any time if the waiver is lost or unavailable, the students’ official state of residency applies. The tuition waiver does not change a student’s residency category.

University Employees

Chicago State University Employees (civil service staff, faculty, and administrators) are eligible for tuition and fee waivers. They must meet all rules and regulations set forth by the University regarding educational benefits and academic regulations, including admission and degree seeking or student-at-large status. All University employees not possessing a bachelor’s degree and not admitted to a degree or certificate program are limited to a maximum of nine (9) semester hours of course work prior to their formal admission to a degree or certificate program. Civil Service employees submit an “Application for Civil Service Employee Education Benefits” and have their supervisor’s clearance through the University’s Office of Human Resources (203 Cook Administration Building, 773/995-2040, fax, 773/995-2569, hr@csu.edu or benefits@csu.edu). All other University administrators, staff and faculty submit their application forms to the Office of the Provost (308 Cook Administration Building, 773/995-2402). All employees must receive written approval from their chairperson/supervisor and college dean (where appropriate) to take tuition-free courses. The courses must not interfere with their regular assignments and responsibilities or be taken during regular work hours, including hybrid and online courses. See the special section pertaining to CSU employees for details. All employees must demonstrate successful completion of previous courses taken to continue receiving tuition waivers after the initial award.

APPLICATION DEADLINE

All individuals seeking waivers must apply by the end of the late registration period for any term. Waivers must be used during the term in which they are granted. Waivers are not for payment of outstanding balances or previous bills. Waiver requests will not be signed after the due date. If there are extenuating circumstances affecting the submission date, then a student may submit a written request for an exception to the Office of Financial Aid and a committee will review the request. Faculty and Administrators submit their requests to the Office of the Provost and Civil Service employees submit their requests to the Office of Human Resources. A committee will review the request and decide for employees. If the request is denied, then the student is responsible for full payment of any course costs and late fees associated with registration of the course covered by the tuition waiver. Any undergraduate or graduate student who is awarded a tuition waiver will receive the in-state resident tuition rate in effect during the time for which they receive the award. This does not change the individual’s residency standing.

University employees eligible for waivers during the Intersession or Summer School submit requests by the first day class of the session in which the employee is enrolled. Tuition and fee waivers will be granted by the Office of the Provost or the Office of Human Resources after late registration of any term. All waivers must be used in the term in which they are awarded.

Waiver of Tuition for Faculty, Administrators and Staff and their Dependents, and Other State University Employees with Reciprocal Agreements

General Policy
Tuition waivers are granted at the beginning of each academic term to eligible faculty and Chicago State University Civil Service and University employees, dependents of these employees, and retirees, as well as Civil Service and administrative employees as a part of their educational benefit. Applications must be submitted at the start of each term for which a waiver is requested.

A tuition waiver application must be submitted to the Office of Financial Aid at CSU with all appropriate signatures by the last day of late registration for all academic terms, except by the first day of classes for any Intersession or Summer School session in which the individual enrolls.

Waiver Coverage and Conditions:
Tuition waivers do not cover past due bills for previous terms. Tuition waivers do not cover course work for students enrolled in the Pharmacy program. Tuition waivers do not cover program fees for students enrolled in programs in the College of Health Sciences and Pharmacy. Waivers for tuition will not be accepted after the due date, at the end of a term or after the conclusion of a term, including Intersession and Summer School.

The tuition and fee waiver covers all tuition and mandatory fees, application fees, credit evaluation fees, admission fees and graduation fees as part of the employee educational benefit. It does not cover course-related fees. The number of courses and credit hours for which tuition waivers are applicable depends upon the individual’s employment or eligibility status. Generally, this is six credits per term for full-time employees and three credits per term for half-time employees and retirees. Employees (administrative, faculty and staff) must have been employed at least six months or one academic term at 50% to be eligible for a tuition waiver, and they must meet the admission and prerequisites for any course or program for which he or she seeks enrollment. Employees must have completed their probationary period to be eligible.

To continue receiving the tuition waiver, the applicant should demonstrate successful completion of previous courses (grades greater than the letter ‘D’). This means that the student must successfully pass previous courses for which a waiver is granted. Documentation of current academic standing must be submitted with the waiver request form. If after the waiver is approved, it is learned that the individual does not meet the academic progress standards, the waiver may be reversed, and a bill will be issued for the course. At the time of application, the employee is to provide his or her supervisor and unit head with documentation that s/he has successfully completed previous courses. Continued receipt of a tuition waiver is contingent upon the employee making satisfactory academic progress as defined above.

Time Off for Classes
All employees must avoid taking classes during their regular assigned work hours. If this cannot be avoided, the employee must present a statement signed by the supervisor/dean (and authorized by the divisional vice president) for when and how the work hours will be made up. The supervisor is responsible for monitoring compliance with this provision. The statement must be attached to the Tuition Waiver Form when presented for approval. The Civil Service guidelines have a provision for course completion in the final year or term of a degree, which should be followed.

All employees needing time off to complete student teaching or required internships or practicum courses for a degree program must make separate provisions for a leave of absence or time off to complete their course of study. Receipt of a tuition waiver does not exempt the employee from meeting any course or program prerequisites or requirements for admission or degree completion.
