Welcome to Field Practicum

Dear MSW Graduate Student:

You are about to embark on what is likely for many to be the most memorable part of the MSW program.

It is here that you will have the opportunity to apply knowledge learned in the classroom. You will receive supervisory field instruction from an experienced MSW and further supported by a Faculty Field Liaison who will also be your Field Seminar Instructor.

Although many of you have already had extensive work and life experience, you will now discover new and different perspectives and we hope you will be open to all of them.

The personal self-reflection and time commitment will present challenges on a regular basis. It is a time of sacrifice for many of you. However, you will have the support of your peers, faculty, field instructors, liaison, field director and department chairperson to assist and support you in any reasonable effort to mitigate barriers to success.

This manual was developed to familiarize you with expectations, policies and procedures that are critical to a smooth practicum experience. Please use it as an on-going reference for your questions. On behalf of the Department of Social Work, we look forward to working with each of you in your successful achievements in the field.

Sincerely,

Lolita Godbold, LCSW
Director of Field Education
Please sign and upload this document in Tevera to acknowledge that you understand that you are expected to uphold the principles and policies within this Manual and the code of Ethics created to govern the practices of social workers everywhere.

Section 1: Introduction

1.1 Chicago State University Mission Statement

Mission

Chicago State University transforms students’ lives by innovative teaching, research, and community partnerships through excellence in ethical leadership, cultural enhancement, economic development, and justice.

Values
- Personal and academic excellence
- Personal, professional, and academic integrity
- Diversity, Equity, and inclusion
- Leadership, service, philanthropy, social justice, and entrepreneurship
- Creative and innovative thinking and learning
- Pride in self, community, and the university
- Lifelong learning

1.2 Master of Social Work Program Mission Statement

The mission of the MSW program at Chicago State University is to prepare graduate social work professionals, who are committed to life-long learning through a competent, evidence-based, trauma informed, family centered practice, and who use their leadership skills with a spirit of inquiry to serve urban communities with a commitment to social, racial, and economic justice.

1.3 Family-Centered Perspective

The family-centered perspective serves as the organizing framework for the curriculum of the Master of Social Work program. This perspective emphasizes the centrality of family and interpersonal relationships in the development of individuals. The program emphasizes the importance of utilizing an inclusive definition of “family” that includes blood ties and families of appropriation. Affirming the diversity of modern family structures is emphasized throughout the sequence.

The family-centered perspective transcends the level of service delivery and easily accommodates micro, mezzo, or macro systems. With family as partner and collaborator, both problems and solutions can more readily be accurately identified within the context, culture and ethnicity, age, affection preference, race, mental or physical attributes or social class. This holistic view of the family supports the best interests, of the family as a unit and the development, nurture and safety of its members. Students develop the knowledge, skills, and values to assess the strengths, resilience and breakdown within families and systems that impact their functioning. The mechanisms of oppression and discrimination, with concomitant identification of needed changes or modifications in service delivery or social policies to strengthen and empower families are identified.
A family-centered perspective is consistent with an ecological focus for social work practice. It is essential that students are able to account for the broader social, political, and historical forces that have influenced the development of individuals and their family relationships. Throughout the curriculum there is an emphasis on placing behavior in the context of social and political oppression. Opportunities for the application of the family-centered perspective are integrated into the field practice and shared peer experience in the field seminars.

Section 2: Description of Field Education Model

2.1 Field Entry Points

Full time students begin their field practicum during their first semester. Part-time students begin their field practicum during their fourth semester after completing their first year of course work.

2.2 Field Practicum Overview

Field Practicum courses provide the classroom seminar and field internship experience. The field practicum is based on concurrent enrollment in a field placement and course work. The Field Practicum cannot be taken alone. Certain courses must be taken prior to or concurrent with each field practicum class. Students must comply with their study plan as designed by their advisor. Students that do not follow their study plan risk being removed from their field placement and thus delaying graduation.

2.2.1 Field Seminar

Generalist students participate in an integrative field seminar that meets five times per semester. The field practicum and field seminar combined are considered one course and students receive one grade of Pass/Fail for a total of 3 credit hours.

Specialization Students participate in an integrative field seminar that meets four-five times per semester. Additional meetings are scheduled by the Faculty Liaison. The field practicum and field seminar combined are considered one course and students receive one grade of Pass/Fail for a total of 3 credit hours.

2.3 Practicum Goals, Objectives and Outcomes

Generalist Field Practicum /Generalist Practice

The Generalist year provides a range of activities that reflect the generalist practice perspective. Whether a student is a novice to the profession or a seasoned veteran, all students benefit from a Generalist placement that considers practice activities across system levels (individuals, families, groups, communities and organizations). The interrelationships of all levels of practice must be realized through the student’s Generalist learning experiences.

Goal: To prepare students to competently apply generalist Generalist knowledge, skills, values and ethics to practice with individuals, families, groups, organizations and communities. Generalist Field Practicum is an integrated process where students will enact the core competencies. The competencies and component behaviors can be found in appendix B.

Objective 1): To assist students in designing and implementing an individualized Field Learning Contract that identifies specific Generalist learning objectives and outcome measures that attend to 10 core competencies and related component behaviors for each competency.

Objective 2): Provide student with a range of sequentially planned learning experiences to enable the student to develop the capacity to apply the core generalist practice skills across system levels

Outcomes

At the completion of the Generalist field practicum, students will be able to

A. Demonstrate the ability to competently integrate and apply academic content to the generalist social work perspective in micro-, mezzo- and macro-level social work interventions.

B. Demonstrate an understanding of practicum setting, community needs and resources.

C. Engage client systems in a collaborative problem-solving process.

D. Practice disciplined self-awareness in developing interventions that respect client diversity and self-determination.

Specialization Field Practicum /Specialization

The Specialization Placement builds on the Generalist and will provide added rigor that requires the student to develop knowledge and skills for specialization social work practice. The second placement will offer challenges to deal with practice situations of greater complexity requiring increased autonomy and analytical skills specific to the Specialization.

Goal: To prepare students to competently apply specialization family-centered practice with diverse urban populations within the following areas of Specialization: Family Centered Program Planning and Administration, Family Centered Practice with Families and Children, or School Social Work. Specialization Field Practicum is an integrated process where students will enact the core competencies. The competencies and component behaviors can be found in appendix B.
Objective 1): To assist students in the design and implementation of an individualized Field Learning Contract that identifies specific specialization learning objectives and outcome measures that attend to 10 competencies and content specific component behaviors.

Objective 2): To provide an opportunity for students to apply classroom knowledge and evaluate the utility and limitations of the knowledge base through participation in Field Seminars.

Section 3: Affiliation, Agency Relations

3.1 Introduction to Field Practicum

The Practicum is an integral part of the social work curriculum. Students complete each field practicum in a community-based organization under the direct supervisory instruction of a social work practitioner who has a Master of Social Work degree and a minimum of two years post MSW experience. The Director of Field Education, who takes into account the student’s professional goals, employment, volunteer, and life experiences, facilitates placements. The field practicum integrates theory with practice.

In order to fully appreciate the organizational dynamics of the field agency and the full array of services, students are expected to be in placement during regular agency business hours (usually Monday through Friday from 8:00 A.M. to 5:00 P.M.). This ensures optimal access to professional social workers and administrators who are most likely to be available for coordination of activities, collaboration and supervisory field instruction. Additionally, it is expected that all assignments and clock hours be completed at the practicum site (the defined practicum site may include multiple agencies and/ or community home visits).

3.2 Agency Affiliation Process

Any agency interested in becoming a field practicum site, must adhere to the affiliation process that includes the development of a formal affiliation agreement between the agency and Chicago State University. Each affiliated agency and supervising Field Instructor have been evaluated by CSU. The agency mission, scope of services, funding sources, staffing, client populations, levels of supervision, and learning opportunities are assessed.
Concurrently, assessment is made of the credentials and experience of the MSW professionals who elect to directly instruct student learning.

3.3 Supervision Requirements

Field Instructors are required to have a MSW from a CSWE Accredited University, plus 2 years post masters experience. Occasionally a Task Supervisor or adjunct Field Instructor is also assigned who does not have an MSW. If an MSW is not available, a person holding a master’s degree in a related field with 2 years post master’s can be considered.

When there is no MSW available on site to provide the required MSW supervision, the Faculty Field Liaison may assume responsibility for reinforcing a social work perspective in the provision of supervision. The Field Liaison will be held to the same expectation of providing the student with one hour a week of supervision and will work collaboratively with the agency designated non-MSW supervisor to develop the student’s learning contract and complete the evaluation. The required MSW supervision and the decision to provide supervision will be determined by the Director of Field Education.

3.4 Field Instructor Orientation

Orientation and Training is held in the fall and spring for Field Instructors. The Faculty Field Liaison also uses their initial site visit to provide additional orientation and training as needed. The program recruits professionals who have an interest in providing educational opportunities for our students. Populations served by the agencies that are practicum sites are populations that have traditionally been considered vulnerable and oppressed such as women, ethnic minorities, the poor, children, people of color, the elderly, and persons of diverse religious and sexual orientations.

3.5 Concerns of Placement

In cases where the placement appears to be questionable in their educational or professional practices on the part of the Field Instructor or agency, the Director of Field Education will evaluate whether the agency or instructor will be utilized as an educational resource for the MSW Program. The Director of Field Education may refer the matter to the Faculty Field Liaison Committee for review and may make a decision to not utilize the services of the agency or Field Instructor during the deliberations.

The Director of Field Education, Field Instructors, Faculty Field Liaisons, students, other campus faculty and administrators work together in the educational process. Information regarding student needs and progress will be shared among these individuals to optimize student learning.

3.6 Practicum Coordination/ Roles and Responsibilities

3.6.1 Director of Field Education

The Director of Field Education is responsible for developing all practicum placements. It is the goal of the University to identify placements that will best serve to broaden and diversify a student's professional identification and exposure to experiences, skills and knowledge that will prepare students for the professional responsibilities of a specialization social work practitioner. A student's placement assignment is based on careful consideration of the individual student's previous experience, identified learning needs, interests and goals.

3.6.2 Faculty Field Liaison

A Faculty Field Liaison is assigned to each student. At the core of the field liaison’s responsibility is to ensure that competencies, component behaviors and dimensions are addressed. The role of the Liaison is to:

- assist the student and the field agency in all areas of practicum, including answering practicum related questions, addressing needs, problems and or concerns, making agency-based site visits with the student and the Field Instructor, reviewing the evaluation, and assigning the grade.
- The Liaison who also serves as the instructor for the Integrative Seminar Course creates an interactive learning environment where students process the integration of course work and the component behaviors in the practicum itself. The seminar functions as a laboratory where students demonstrate knowledge with an emphasis on skill building and the relationship between knowledge and action. Students will engage in experiential activities (e.g. role-plays) designed to simulate practice situations and dilemmas that reflect the experiences students are encountering in the field.
- When there is no MSW available at the practicum site to provide the required MSW supervision, the department will provide. The department may designated a section of the Field Practicum course for generalist and specialization student to attend to receive the required MSW supervision and to provide the service of the Faculty Field Liaison.
- The Faculty Field Liaison for the designated section of field will assume responsibility for reinforcing a social work perspective in the provision of supervision.
- The decision to provide supervision will be determined by the Director of Field Education, in conjunction with the Department Chairperson.

3.6.3 Field Instructor/Field Supervisor

The Field Instructor is an agency-based social worker appointed by the University to direct the student in his/her individual educational and professional development. The Instructor’s responsibilities include:

- Directing the student’s practicum education within an agency setting. This includes assessment of the individual student’s needs and selection of assignments that meet the student’s and MSW program objectives.
- Provision of ongoing supervisory field instruction to evaluate the student’s educational progress within the agency setting as well as the student’s progress in achieving the goals and objectives of the MSW program.
- Facilitating agency/community resources to ensure the completion of student assignments. This may include the development of inter- and intra-agency coordination as well as providing support, space, supplies and staff support.
- Providing specialized educational content to ensure and enhance the student’s understanding and compliance with agency policies and procedures, as well the particular client populations served by the agency.
- Collaboration with the student to develop an individualized learning contract, which enhances the student’s opportunity to gain the expected proficiencies.
• Inform the faculty liaison promptly of any problems in the field placement and, when necessary, develop a plan of remedial action with the liaison and the student. (See Remediation/Resolving Practicum Concerns)
• Attend the Field Instructor Orientation in the fall and the training in the spring.

3.6.4 Task Instructors

Task Instructors are agency professionals who typically do not have a Master of Social Work degree but who provide day to day instruction for the student or instruction on specific tasks. The agency still identifies someone with a Master of Social Work degree from a CSWE accredited program to provide the MSW supervisory field instruction. In this case the role of the MSW Field Instructor helps the student with socialization to the Social Work profession, integration of Social Work Theory with practice provides weekly supervision to provide the MSW perspective to the field experience.

3.7 Field Instructor Orientation Agenda

Field Instructor Orientation is held in September of each year. Information is provided to acquaint field instructors with program updates and expectations. The orientation addresses the following:

- Mission of Field Education
- Field Seminar
- Roles and responsibilities
- Field Instructor Guide to student orientation
- Generalist and specialization placements/Learning objectives operationalized through competencies and component behaviors
- Process Recordings (Required Assignment for Generalist Students) Field manual (Highlights)
- Hour’s log, learning contract, evaluation of student performance, grades
- Weekly Supervision Log (requires student reflection on competencies and component behaviors addressed in field practicum)
- Remediation plan
- Calendar and Key Dates

Section 4: Field Placement Process

4.1 Internship Management System-Teveva

Our program utilizes Teveva a web-based, field management and program outcomes management system critical to the evaluation of our program. Teveva is used to manage and simplify student field placements, to complete field related documentation, track all hours and performance of students in field practicum classes. Teveva is also utilized to capture data related to student social work competence for the purpose of program evaluation in field and across the curriculum. Students are required to purchase Teveva during the first semester of their academic journey, continuing to use it throughout with access beyond program completion.
4.2 Application Process

4.2.1 Application Deadline:
- November 1st for current CSU MSW Students
- June 15th for newly admitted full-time MSW students

4.2.2 Submission For Current CSU MSW Students
Applications for Field Placement are to be completed in Tevera for current CSU MSW students. Applications received after the deadline date may compromise the placement selection process and place the student in jeopardy of securing placement.

As part of the application process students are asked to complete the following in Tevera:
- The “Student Consent to Release Information related to Field Education” form. The Family Educational Rights Act (FERPA) is a Federal law that protects the privacy of student educational records. This form is to be used by students to grant permission to the Chicago State University Department of Social Work, to release to field instructors’ information gathered from the student in the field application process.
- The Application for Field Placement.
- Upload an updated resume that states the anticipated date of graduation

4.2.3 Submission For Newly Admitted Full-time CSU MSW Students
As part of the application process for NEW students, please visit the CSU MSW webpage to locate the field forms to be utilized to apply for field placement.
https://www.csu.edu/socialwork/fieldforms.htm

- The “Student Consent to Release Information related to Field Education” form. The Family Educational Rights Act (FERPA) is a Federal law that protects the privacy of student educational records. This form is to be used by students to grant permission to the Chicago State University Department of Social Work, to release to field instructors’ information gathered from the student in the field application process.
- The Application for Field Placement.
- An updated resume that states the anticipated date of graduation
- Email the completed documents to lgodbold@csu.edu

4.4 Field Selection Advisement
Students complete an Application for Field Practicum and are strongly encouraged to review it with their advisor prior to submitting it. The Director of Field Education meets with students in groups to review and discuss the individual student's interests and educational needs and answer questions related to the practicum. All information is carefully reviewed and utilized in the agency referral process. Every effort is made to ensure that the learning needs and interests of each student are met. The Director of Field Education retains the ultimate authority in the final determination of field placements.

4.5 Evening and Weekend Placements

Evening and weekend only placements are not available and should not be requested. Students should also avoid requesting placements on the basis of convenience factors (e.g. “it’s near home”). Students must make a commitment to the educational experience and consider opportunities that will enhance their previous experiences and allow them to develop new skills.

4.6 Placement Interview

The Director of Field Education, students and agency personnel collaborate in the placement selection process. The Director of Field Education refers students to the placement setting. Students are expected to initiate contact with agency, send a professional email (please see the appendix for an example), cover letter and their resume. An appointment should be set to interview and to gain a more specific understanding of the agency setting and services.

- Students should meet with the agency staff member assigned as the field instructor since the relationship between the student and field instructor will be the key to the educational experience. During the interview process, students should make every effort to ascertain their potential ability to work with the potential field instructor. The student should be prepared to discuss with the potential field instructor possible learning activities, the supervisory philosophy and style, and past experiences (if applicable) of the field instructor with students. Students should also be prepared to be assessed by the agency. Students should identify their educational goals in specialization and be able to articulate them to agency staff. Students should also use the opportunity to demonstrate the skills they would bring to the organization. Students must notify the Director of Field Education of the outcome of the interview, who will then make a final placement decision in consultation with the field instructor.

- Finding a match between the student intern and the field instructor can be a challenging process. The Director of Field Education will serve as a facilitator in coordinating interviews, offering options, and ultimately providing final approval of the selection of field internships. Students may interview at three potential sites in order to make comparisons and maximize the potential learning experience. If a student is not accepted for placement after three interviews, a conference with the Director of Field Education, Field Liaison Committee and advisor will be scheduled to discuss alternatives including delay of field placement. Students are responsible for notifying the agency of their decision once they have interviewed at an agency and decided not to accept the placement.

- After the interview/meeting, student should email the agency, potential field instructor and/or the person or persons who conducted the interview/meeting to thank them for the interview. Please see the appendix for an example.

Please note that when completing your field application in Tevera, the option to identify an new site for consideration is embedded in the application and should be completed in Tevera as well.

Front Door/Back Door
Please follow the procedures for securing a field placement as outlined by the CSU field director. If you know someone at the organization, though that may be a plus and a benefit, we must first adhere to their instructions for applying. Once you have applied following the standard CSU and the site, you should then utilize other avenues known to you by affiliation or acquaintance. Please inform the Director of Field Education of your plan and desire to do so.

Answers to Frequently asked questions:
- You may only complete and internship at a _facility one time._ _This is to enhance your learning experience._
- You remain in the same placement for one academic year, fall and spring.
- You must be supervised by an MSW with 2 years post masters experience. If there is no MSW in the placement to supervise you, but a master level person of another related discipline, the university has the capacity to provide supervision for a limited number of students. These students must enroll in field class designated to provide the additional support needed.
4.7 Placement Acceptance

Students are to inform the agency in writing that they accepted the field placement. An example can be found in the appendix of this manual. After informing the agency of the decision to accept the field placement, the student intern is to complete the Confirmation of Field Placement Decision form found in Tevera.

The Director of Field Education will send a letter to the agency that confirms student’s field placement acceptance. The letter to the field instructors will include additional information about field placement and particularly information about the field instructor orientation held in September as well.

4.8 Securing and Beginning Field Placement Timely

Students are expected to have selected and to begin field placement at the start of the first semester in August, the first week of classes. Any student who has not secured a field placement or whose field placement has not begun by the fourth week of class will be considered to have never attended class. The field practicum is considered a class. Per University policy, during the fourth week of class, instructors will assign a W/N, indicating that a student has never attended. Students receiving a W/N will be administratively withdrawn from the class for which a W/N has been recorded. After the official drop date, the instructor may assign a nonattendance grade of W/P (withdraw passing) or W/F (withdraw failing) with a formal request from the student. Students should consult with their faculty advisor to modify their course study plan and the impact this change will have on their matriculation through the program.

Section 5: Field Learning and Evaluation

5.1 Learning Contract and Evaluation Documentation
Tevera is a web-based field manage system used to manage field placement activities below:

- Learning Contracts will be drafted by the student and the field instructor/supervisor. The final completed learning contract will be entered completed in Tevera.
- Midterm Evaluations will be completed mid-semester to evaluate student progress and review hours in Tevera.
- End of Semester Evaluation will be completed at the end of semester to evaluate competency attainment based on the activities from the learning contract in Tevera.

5.2 The Learning Contract
Learning activities should be diverse and should reflect the abilities and interests of the student learners. They should also support the curriculum, mission, and goals of the MSW program. Learning activities in the generalist year will reflect a generalist practice perspective. Learning activities in the specialization year should support increasing knowledge acquisition, skill development, and practice complexity. Students in the specialization placement should be preparing for greater autonomy and practice within their area of Specialization. Learning activities for both Generalist year and specialization year should be designed to help students demonstrate competency attainment. Field instructors and students are reminded that learning goals should be developed utilizing a developmental continuum towards competency attainment and that will add value and allow the student to grow from one point to another. There are 10 competencies, and each has one or more corresponding component behaviors and dimensions. Sample learning activities can be found in the appendix of this manual. The 10 competencies and related component behaviors can be found in the appendix of this manual as well. Component behaviors for the specialization year of study are Specialization specific.
The learning contract is the most essential tool for the agency and the student in developing the student’s learning experience. Many of the problems that arise in the placement experience can be traced to failing to clarify expectations for the agency, the field instructor, and/or the student. The field instructor and student schedule a conference to collaborate in the construction of this document. The faculty field liaison and the Director of Field Education are available to assist in the development of this document. The learning contract is developed during the first month of placement; see Field Practicum Calendar for specific due date. The learning contract and field evaluation are to be completed utilizing Tevera. Once the student has met with their field instructor and the plan has been agreed upon and finalized the student will enter the approved final version of their learning plan into Tevera.

Section 6: Monitoring/Evaluation/Grading

6.1 Monitoring:

The Faculty Field Liaison conducts two site visits with both the student and field instructor during the field placement. The visits usually occur during the beginning and end of the field placement. The first visit is to assist the student and field instructor with the learning contract and clarify expectations. The field liaison is responsible for ensuring that competencies are addressed and to assess the integration of theoretical perspectives acquired in the courses into practice at the agency.

6.2 Evaluation/Grading of Student:

6.2.1 Midterm Evaluation
The first Friday in October the Field Instructor will submit a record of the hours completed by the student and complete a brief evaluation of the student’s progress in Tevera. The field instructor will be asked to select from one of following:

- Passing, no concerns
- Passing, some concerns*
- Not passing, some concerns
- Not passing, concerns, placement in jeopardy

*The faculty liaison will contact the field instructor to discuss the concerns
The faculty liaison will schedule a meeting to address the concerns and develop a remediation plan or to review the remediation plan.

6.2.2 End of Semester
At the completion of each semester (December and May) the Field Instructor and student participate in a formal evaluation conference. The evaluation will be completed in Tevera. The Practicum is graded on a Pass/Fail format. The field practicum represents fifty percent (50%) of the grade and the field seminar and seminar assignments represent fifty percent (50%) of the grade.

The evaluation form must be completed by the Field Instructor and reviewed by the student prior to the completion. The evaluation should be done only at the completion of required clock hours. The evaluation uses a developmental continuum to measure students’ progress towards competency attainment. Field instructors and students are reminded that learning goals should be developed that will add value and allow the student to grow from one point to another. The evaluation uses a scale from 1-5 to measure progress towards competency. In the case that there is no evidence of student growth or concerns regarding student growth/competency attainment, the field instructor should notify the faculty field liaison and a remediation plan should be developed.

If an instructor expects to recommend a grade of "Fail" the Faculty Liaison should be notified as early as possible. Once concerns are identified, the instructor, student, and liaison evaluate what actions should be taken. The Faculty Field Liaison has the responsibility for assigning the final grade. Grades of “Incomplete-I” may be assigned, but only if the liaison has approved the student’s plan to make up the deficiencies.

Students who do not meet the minimum expected proficiencies and/or service requirements within the required number of clock hours may receive a grade of "Fail." Students who receive a grade of "Fail" will be unable to continue in practicum until the grade of "Fail" has been reviewed. A decision will be made whether to refer to another placement, delay replacement, or be terminated from the M.S.W. program. The Director of the Social Work Department must approve any of these options. Students’ may only repeat one failing grade in field.

6.3 Student Evaluation of Field Practicum Experience

This form is completed by the student in Tevera. The evaluation provides the Director of Field Education with the student’s evaluation of the field placement experience.

6.4 Field Instructor Evaluation of MSW Program:

This form is completed by the field instructor in Tevera at the completion of the field practicum and provides an assessment of the support they received from the MSW Program.

Section 7: Expectations for Supervisory Field Instruction

The relationship between the student and the field instructor is essential for professional development and mentoring. The University requires that students meet with their field instructor for individual supervisory field instruction for one hour per week. Group instruction cannot serve as a substitute for individual supervisory field instruction.

The MSW Program assumes that the student will assume a leadership role in developing agendas for supervisory field instruction and utilize this structure to routinely convey questions to agency staff. The student is also expected to complete the Weekly Supervision Log in Tevera. The Weekly Supervision Log is to be completed by the student, before the scheduled meeting with the field instructor/supervisor. The field instructor should require that the student has log prepared and ready for use during the supervisory meeting. The form has a section for the student’s agenda, a section for student reflection on practice and application of competencies and a final section on notes from supervision. The “Supervisor’s Note” section should be completed by the student during supervision. The form should then be signed by both parties at the end of the meeting.
Section 8: Time Management/Managing the Field Practicum Commitment

8.1 Scheduling
Clear blocks of time, days, weeks, and hours for completing field hours should be determined and indicated on the learning contract when it is completed. It is extremely difficult for field instructors to plan for learning experiences if the student’s hours of availability are frequently changing due to demands, for example, from the student’s employment. Requests for flexibility are necessary at times; however, these requests must be kept to a minimum.

Students should be aware that most agencies operate between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. Students will need to be available during the regular business hours of the agency for a substantial portion of the practicum. This availability will increase the student's ability to participate in a full range of agency activities including training sessions, meetings, attend case consultations, and obtain the required supervisory field instruction. While it may be possible to complete limited practicum assignments during evenings and on weekends, participation during the agency’s regular business hours enhances the student's opportunity to become an integral member of the agency service delivery team. A weekly time schedule must be identified as part of the student’s learning contract. Students are expected to complete the Field Placement Schedule Agreement with their field instructor. The agreement must be submitted in Tevera. This form can be found in Tevera, the appendix of this manual as well as on the CSU social work webpage.

8.2 Attendance
Students are expected to have regular attendance and to treat the field placement as they would any professional employment. This includes prompt arrival. While it should be customary that students are allowed to leave at an agreed upon time, it is also the standard that professionals see activities through to completion. A student should never leave a crisis situation involving a client without securing an appropriate transfer to appropriate staff. Discussing expectations for crisis situations with the field instructor in specialization helps to reduce poor communication and unnecessary stress for all parties.

8.2.1 CSU Acknowldegement
Many students entering graduate study in social work are also working in social service agencies. The MSW program supports our student’s sense of industry in seeking to specialization in their careers. We also understand that the model that allows graduate study (and often undergraduate study) to be a “sheltered time” free of the responsibilities of work, family, and personal commitments is not the model most of our students experience as their daily reality. However, we also assume that our student’s decision to pursue graduate education reflects their commitment to the academic rigors of a Master’s program. The pressures of fulfilling demanding multiple roles challenge many students. The faculty advisor and the resources of the counseling center are available to help students develop time management skills and resolve personal issues that prove barriers to meeting the expectations of the practicum.

Students should make appropriate arrangements with their employer regarding the expectations for fulfilling their field requirements prior to submitting their application for field placement. This is particularly important for students whose primary employment involves crisis situations, court appearances, and other demanding professional expectations. Students should consider seeking a formal written agreement with their employer. The support of their employer is very important in assisting the student to meet their obligations for completing field.
The integrity and quality of the student’s MSW academic experience cannot be compromised. When planning the field experience, please be aware that students will be expected to complete between 13 and 21 hours per week depending on their start date. Students should also be aware that required activities of the field agency (e.g. supervisory field instruction, staffing, and training) and/or potential clients are likely to require the student’s availability and flexibility. Planning with one’s employer and field instructor will keep unexpected problems to a minimum. Support from all significant parties in the student’s personal and professional network will be the key to success!

The issue of time management is so critical to the successful completion of their degree that students are asked to consider it at the time of submitting applications for admission to the MSW program. Students who are not able to honor the time expectations agreed to in their learning contract will be asked to leave the placement. They will not be placed in an alternative placement until they are able to demonstrate a significant change in their circumstances that will allow them to meet the expectations for field placement.

8.3 Accrual of Hours at Field Placements via Special Projects and Events

Students may be involved in activities while in field placement that require work on special projects outside of the field placement. Students will only be able to accrue 20% of their field hours per semester working independently on special projects and events that take them out of the traditional field placement environment. Such projects must be approved by Director of Field Education. A written proposal must be submitted that details the nature of the project, the goals and the objectives of the project and an explanation of why it cannot be completed during traditional hours and/or in the traditional placement environment.

8.4 On call responses

Students may be placed at an organization or agency where the opportunity to engage in the provision of services via on call responses. Students who would like to participate in such activities may do so for the express purpose of having this as a learning experience. As a learning experience/activity it cannot be counted as part of the student’s regular schedule ongoing. Students are not allowed to be placed where being on call is a requirement of the placement. Students will be allowed to count no more than 8 hours on call per semester. The following guidelines and requirements must be adhered to:

- Must submit request to be on call to the Director of Field Education at least 1 week prior to planned on call opportunity
- When requesting approval, please provide a detailed schedule of day(s) and times that student will be on call and the nature of the on call activity
- Student must shadow their field instructor/supervisor or someone designated by the field instructor/supervisor when responding or participating in an on call event
- Student must include the activity in the learning plan/contract specifying the competency addressed
- Student must discuss with faculty field liaison and the field instructor to address issues of safety

8.5 Record of Practicum Hours

Students are required to complete a minimum of 400 clock hours in the first year practicum (Generalist) and 550 hours in the second year (specialization) practicum. Generalist students complete 200 hours per semester at a rate of 13 to 16 hours per week depending on their start date. Specialization students complete 275 hours per semester at a rate of 19 to 21 hours per week depending on their start date. Students must complete the required hours in order to receive a passing grade. Students in the School Social Work Specialization complete a minimum of 600 clock hours during their specialization placement, 300 hours per semester at a rate of 21 to 24 hours per week depending on their start date. Lunch “hours” or coffee “breaks” are included in determining clock hours for students who put in at least a 7 hour day. Students are required to keep a record of their hours utilizing program provided hours log. The field instructor will approve the recorded hours, with a final submission of the approved log being sent to the student’s faculty field liaison. The hours log must be emailed to the liaison from the field instructor as this will serve as signature and approval of the hours. Hours given to the liaison from the student will not be accepted.

Students are expected to remain in their placement for the entire two semesters. Students may not bank hours and finish their placement early. Students are required to maintain a record of hour using Tevera. Hours must be approved by the Field Instructor in Tevera as well. Students are encouraged to also utilize any record of hours required by the field placement also.

8.5.1 Incompletion of Hours

In the event that a student does not complete the required field hours by the end of the semester, the student is required to inform the faculty field liaison and develop a plan to complete the required hours. Students will complete the required Chicago State University request for an incomplete grade, detailing the plan for completing the required hours, sign it and submit it to their faculty field liaison. The form is signed by the faculty field liaison and the department chair and is finally submitted to the registrar and serves as a mutually agreed upon contract.

8.5.2 Completing Field Hours Once the Incomplete Grade Has Been Given

Field Seminar is a required course and attendance in mandatory. The purpose of Field Seminar is to provide an opportunity for students to apply classroom knowledge and evaluate the utility and limitations of the knowledge base through participation in the course and completion of the assignments while in Field Placement. It is imperative that the classroom portion of field and the field placement itself occur simultaneously. Please be advised that all incomplete grades given for Field Seminar must be satisfied in the following manner:

Fall Semester Field Hours and Assignments must be completed before the first day of class of the Spring Semester immediately following the semester for which the incomplete was granted. If not, the student will be given the opportunity to satisfy the conditions of the incomplete in the Fall of the following academic year when the respective course is offered again. Please note 5460 is a prerequisite for 5461, 5461 is a prerequisite for 5462 and 5462 is a prerequisite for 5463. Students cannot be enrolled field courses concurrently. Course requirements must be satisfied for each field course prior to beginning the next field course.

Spring Semester Field Hours and Assignments must be completed by June 30th of the month immediately following the semester for which the incomplete was granted. If not, the student will be given the opportunity to satisfy the conditions of the incomplete in the Spring of the following academic year when the respective course in offered again.

This will allow the student to engage properly in the course and receive the required and adequate supports while in Field Placement.
Liability insurance remains in effect as long as a student has received a grade of “Incomplete” and therefore is working to complete the required field hours. It is not necessary to complete the Approval to Extend Field Placement form in this situation.

8.6 Holidays, Vacation, Breaks and Other Absences from Field

Students are not required to participate in the field practicum during University observed holidays or school breaks. Agency requirements however may supersede the university requirement in cases of continuity of care. Students should review the school calendar while completing the Learning Contract with the field instructor to avoid unclear expectations by either party. Students should also keep in mind that client/agency needs should be addressed in a professional manner. Every effort should be made to ensure client care has been adequately covered during scheduled vacations.

If a student is expected to participate in the field practicum during university observed holidays or school breaks for continuity reasons that also align and support the learning objectives and competency attainment, it is required that students submit the Approval to Extend Field Placement form signed by the student, field instructor and the faculty field liaison. The form is then to be submitted to the director of field education and a copy placed in the student file. Students attending placement for continuity of care purposes will be covered by the University’s comprehensive liability insurance provided this form has been completed and submitted prior to the start of the extended time. Students who need to attend their field placement prior to the beginning of the semester to engage in training and/or orientation must also complete this form as well. Students attending for training/orientation should not engage in the provision of services during this time because they are not covered by the University’s comprehensive liability insurance during this time.

An illness or other emergency may require that a student be absent from the practicum. Under these circumstances, students are expected to notify the field instructor immediately and work out make-up time with the field instructor. If a student is absent two consecutive scheduled days from the field practicum or two scheduled field days within a 2-week period the student must notify the faculty field liaison. If the absence is to be more than a week, the Faculty Liaison must be notified and a schedule for make-up presented. Under no circumstances will the clock hours be reduced. Field instructors are also strongly encouraged to notify the faculty liaison of all attendance matters above as soon as they occur.

8.6.1 Midterm Submission of Hours Log
The first Friday of October students must have the log of their hours completed and approved by their field instructor as part of the Midterm Evaluation.

8.6.2 Extension of Field Placement
Chicago State University, Master of Social Work program does not require students to attend field practicum during university observed holidays or school breaks. There are 3 circumstances that may require a student to attend the field placement during the break for which an exception may be justified. The provision of client services to ensure continuity of care, student is working to complete required field hours and to address training and or orientation prior to the start of the semester.

- Continuity of Care
Every effort should be made to ensure client continuity of care has been adequately covered during observed holidays or school breaks. In the event that it is necessary for the student to attend the field practicum during observed holidays and/or school breaks to ensure client continuity of care, the student must inform their field liaison and the director of field education of the arrangement. In order to be covered by the University’s comprehensive liability insurance students must complete the Approval to Extend Field Placement form, which is to be signed by the student, the field instructor, and the field liaison and submitted to the director of field education. A copy of the completed form will be maintained in the student’s file.

Attending Field Prior to the start of classes for training and/or orientation

Liability insurance is in effect while students are enrolled in the designated Field Practicum Course during the fall and spring semester. Students who may need to attend field placement prior to the beginning of the semester to attend mandatory training or orientation for the placement may do so, however students are not engaged in the provision of services during this time. Students are also not allowed to engage in more than 40 hours of training and/or orientation during this time. Student must complete the Approval to Extend Field Placement form to indicate the understanding that they have approval to attend placement for training and/or orientation. Should the student engage in the provision of services, they are not covered by the University’s comprehensive liability insurance during this time. The Approval to Extend Field Placement form is to be signed by the student, the field instructor, the field liaison and submitted to the director of field education. A copy of the completed form will be maintained in the student’s file.

Any student who attends field placement during university observed holidays or breaks who does not meet one of three conditions described here, is assumed to be doing so as a volunteer to the agency. As an agency volunteer the student is not covered by the University’s comprehensive liability insurance during this time and should be covered by the agencies or organization’s volunteer liability coverage.

Section 9: Remediation/Resolving Practicum Concerns

9.1 Requests for Change of Placement:

Careful consideration is given to the placement of each student. If concerns arise, every effort is made to resolve the concern. The student and/or the field instructor should notify the liaison immediately when concerns are first identified. A conference will be scheduled with all parties for the purpose of developing a remediation plan. The Director of Field Education does not consider changes of placement until every attempt has been made to resolve the presenting concern. Students should never leave the field agency until all parties have reached an agreement.

If circumstances arise that are not able to be remedied by supervisory feedback, a remediation plan may be required. The Field Instructor should be certain that expectations have been clearly communicated to the student. Remediation plans are also indicated when students demonstrate skill deficits that cannot be attributed to the student’s level of professional development (e.g., the student with minimal experience in human services). The plan articulates expectations, minimal criteria for acceptable performance, resources available for support through the field agency and/or the University and expected timelines for attainment of stated goals and objectives. The following guidelines are recommended when serious concerns arise:
The Field Instructor and student should attempt to resolve concerns through openly discussing the issues and identifying changes which could alleviate the problems. A remediation plan should then be written which identifies the specific steps that must be taken to alleviate the concern and include timelines for achievement. The student, Field Instructor and Faculty Liaison must sign off on the Remediation Plan. If the expectations of a remediation plan are not met, the student may receive a failing (F) grade. The Faculty Liaison will send a copy of the remediation plan to the Director of Field Education.

The Faculty Field Liaison serves as a resource to assist the student and/or Field Instructor in resolving concerns. The Field Liaison may use a variety of methods, including joint and individual meetings, to assist in resolving the problems. Both parties are encouraged to contact the Faculty Field Liaison as soon as it is suspected that a concern may require attention. The Faculty Field Liaison may serve as a consultant and offer strategies that may alleviate minor problems before they become major concerns. Both parties should make every effort not to allow a problem to reach crisis levels before contacting the Faculty Field Liaison.

If the Field Liaison believes that the problem will best be resolved by a change of Field Instructor or agency, the Liaison will evaluate the hours, proficiencies, and service requirements completed by the student. In collaboration with the Director of Field Education, a decision will be made regarding the credit allowed for work completed prior to the change of Instructor or agency. In the event that a change of field placement occurs, the student must complete at least 70% of the required field hours for the semester in the new placement regardless of the hours completed in the previous placement or the remaining field hours whichever is greater. The circumstance of the change of field placement is not relevant in determining the hours to be completed, but rather the necessary time needed to provide field instruction. This will allow the new field placement time and opportunity for training and orientation necessary for the student to adapt to the new placement.

Once determined that there will be a change of field placement, the field instructor will complete a mini evaluation of student’s progress at the time of change of field placement. The mini evaluation will confirm the hours completed and student report on student’s current progress as:

- Passing, no concerns
- Passing, some concerns
- Not passing, some concerns
- Not passing, concerns, placement in jeopardy

Students will not be allowed to change field placements in cases where there are issues with attendance (as indicated by hours completed), performance and professionalism. In such cases, students would be considered as not passing and a grade of “F” assigned.

In cases where the problem appears to be questionable educational or professional practices on the part of the Field Instructor or agency, the Director of Field Education will evaluate whether the agency or instructor will continue to be utilized as an educational resource for the MSW Program. The Director of Field Education may refer the matter to the Faculty Field Liaison Committee for review and may make a decision to not utilize the services of the agency or Field Instructor during the deliberations.
Section 10: Expectations for Professional Behavior

The most important expectation for professional behavior of MSW students while in field practicum is that they represent the University and the profession of Social Work in a manner that reflects the highest standards of integrity and professionalism. To achieve this worthy standard, the following guidelines should be respected:

10.1 Professional Conduct:

While in Practicum, students are expected to abide by the NASW Code of Ethics. If there is an allegation of student professional misconduct, the Director of Field Education will refer the matter to the Faculty Field Liaison Committee and the Chairperson of the Social Work Department. A breach of the NASW Code of Ethics may result in suspension or termination from the program.

Students should also understand that while the Field Practicum is an educational experience, they should at all times conduct themselves as professionals. Beyond the adherence to the NASW Code of Ethics, this includes professional behavior (i.e., maintaining adequate records, professional time management skills, professional dress and behavior with colleagues and clients).

10.2 Timely Completion of Assigned Tasks:

Expectations for the timely completion of assigned tasks may be formal (determined by agency policy) or informal. It is imperative that students quickly determine the parameters of these formal and informal expectations with their field instructors.

10.3 Maintaining Professional Boundaries:

The NASW Code of Ethics clearly articulates guidelines for professional boundaries.

ALL STUDENTS WHO ARE PLACED INTO FIELD AGENCIES BY THE UNIVERSITY ARE EXPECTED TO BE FAMILIAR WITH AND CONSISTENTLY UTILIZE THE NASW CODE OF ETHICS AT ALL TIMES. A copy of the Code of Ethics is in the appendix of this manual and the student handbook.

10.4 Dual Relationships

Dual relationships are typically discouraged (between students, clients and agency staff) where there is a potential for exploitation or harm to any party. Students are encouraged to seek consultation from their field instructor, faculty liaison, and/or the Director of Field Education if any questions arise regarding professional boundaries.

Serious concerns that call into question a student’s professional judgment will be grounds for remediation, and in cases of gross misconduct, dismissal from the MSW program.

10.5 Confidentiality

Students must be vigilant in attending to client confidentiality so that informal discussions of client problems are never attached to identifying information. Students are expected to uphold the confidentiality of clients and client systems. Students should discuss challenges to confidentiality with their field instructor including the following areas:
✓ Making referrals
✓ Securing treatment with managed care providers
✓ Working in multi-disciplinary teams
✓ Completing class assignments (e.g., journals, presentations, process recordings)
✓ Seminar discussion
✓ Providing information to monitoring agencies

10.6 Maintaining Clear Communication

Professional relationships are enhanced when expectations are clear. Conversely, problems tend to arise when parties make assumptions regarding expectations, motives, or standards for appropriate performance. Supervisors and students are strongly encouraged to explicitly and routinely seek feedback regarding expectations and methods for communicating information.

10.7 Attire

Agency standards vary from site to site. A student visiting a client’s home often elects to dress in a manner that differs from the student who will be presenting a proposal to the agency Board of Directors. Professional judgment is required. Students who feel they need assistance in enhancing their professional wardrobe should contact their faculty liaison or the Director of Field Education for resources that may be utilized. Clothing that could be considered provocative or inappropriately casual should be avoided. Students should seek consultation with their field instructor regarding agency norms and expectations for proper attire.

Section 11 Termination/Failure of Practicum

11.1 Reasons for Termination

The Field Instructor, agency administrator, or Faculty Liaison may terminate a student’s practicum for any of the following reasons:

- The agency’s failure to provide the expected learning experiences and/or appropriate supervisory field instruction or to meet expectations identified in the Affiliation Agreement.
- Unexpected events in the life of the student or the agency operation that jeopardize the quality of the student’s learning experience.

11.2 Failure of Field Practicum

In addition to termination, a student may receive a grade of “F” for the following reasons:

- The student fails to meet the expected standards for ethical professional practice as identified in the NASW Code of Ethics.
- Academic suspension of student based on university policy.
- The student is unable to establish relationships or engage clients
- The student does not meet agency standards for conduct or service delivery
- The student unilaterally decides to terminate field placement
11.3 Non-Academic Dismissal

In rare cases students may be considered for termination from field due to non-academic reasons. Circumstances that may be considered for non-academic dismissal include (but are not limited to) adjudication for any criminal offense, gross misconduct, gross errors of professional judgment, and gross violations of professional boundaries. Sexual misconduct as outlined in the NASW Code of Ethics will be cause for dismissal from the program. (See also the University Catalogue and MSW Student Handbook).

11.4 Appeal/Grievance Procedures

Refer to the MSW Student Handbook for specific guidelines regarding the Field Practicum and Performance Reviews and Grievance Procedures.

Section 12: Employment Based Field Placement

The following policies are to ensure an educational focus for internships in the student's agency of employment:

Employment placements are the most difficult to arrange and monitor. The requisite time to meet the learning needs of students is often compromised, resulting in students experiencing a disrupted placement. Students should be aware that a placement of convenience may not provide the most appropriate learning experience. All students are encouraged to give full consideration to the limitations of this option.

- A student may request a first- and second-year practicum to take place in his/her agency of employment but each must provide substantially different learning experiences.
- A student cannot complete an Employment Based Placement within their current role more than once.
- Student may complete one in their current role and one in another role, if the agency organization has the capacity to support a diverse learning experience that will benefit student post graduation. The Director of Field Education will make the final determination.

As part of the application process, student will submit a draft of the learning plan to be used if placement is approved.

The agency director and/or employee’s supervisor, in collaboration with the potential Field Instructor and student, must establish separate blocks of time from work assignments, which are committed for uninterrupted practicum education.

- The practicum setting must be an approved setting and must be able to provide the specialization educational experiences required by the MSW Program.

- To request a work site field placement the “Employment Based Field Practicum Proposal form must be completed by March 30th. The form can be found in the appendix of this manual and on the CSU MSW webpage under field practicum forms and in Tevera. In completing the form, the following information must be provided: 1) detailed information about the student’s responsibilities as an employee and student intern 2) identification of the work supervisor and of the field instructor 3) the student’s schedule for field placement and that of the student’s schedule for work (depending upon the type of placement requested) Once completed the form is to be signed by the field instructor, work supervisor, the student and the student’s academic advisor. The form should then be submitted to the director of field education, who will then schedule a field visit prior to approving the field placement. It is required that that the student, field instructor and the work supervisor all be present for this meeting. If after meeting, all parties agree that the worksite is able to support the student as a student intern, the field director will approve the placement.

- Please make sure to complete the request for a Worksite Field Placement Application, with all required signatures by March 30th. The required site visit to approve the field placement with all parties MUST occur on or before April 30th. No Worksite field placements will be considered, explored or processed beyond April 30th.

Section 13: Field Policies

13.1 Reimbursement for Expenses/Practicum Stipends

While an occasional Practicum placement may provide financial stipends for students, most agencies do not provide any financial assistance. Each student is individually responsible to arrange resources sufficient to complete his/her graduate education. The referral to a practicum will be based on the student's educational and professional development needs.

When an agency does provide stipends, the decision regarding who receives stipends and how the funds are disbursed is made by the agency. The student is held responsible for payment of any taxes, including Social Security tax, as required by the Internal Revenue Service.

If use of a vehicle is required, reimbursement for travel should be discussed with the agency prior to the start of the field placement to determine if the agency reimburses for travel and the rate.
The agency should have a policy regarding reimbursement of expenses and communicate that policy to students.

13.2 Technology

Technology serves as an asset or a liability to communication dependent upon use. Technology also introduces ethical dilemmas to social work practice. The scope of this issue exceeds the brief discussion contained within this document and students are strongly encouraged to seek additional resources to successfully utilize technology to enhance practice. The guidelines listed below serve as a brief overview and should not be considered exhaustive:

- Students are expected to review and utilize agency protocol regarding the use of computers, email, social media, faxes, and mobile telephones when transmitting any information regarding clients.
- Students should be considerate when discussing client information via mobile devices.
- Students should review with the field instructor appropriate times for the active mobile devices.
- Photographs, videos or audiotapes of client interviews require explicit informed consent from clients and must comply with principles of confidentiality.

13.3 Transportation of Clients

Students are not allowed to transport clients in their own or agency vehicles.

13.4 Student Safety

Social workers provide services in a variety of settings including home-based and community-based services. Social workers also intervene with clients and client systems that may pose a degree of risk to physical safety. All students are required to discuss potential safety concerns with field agencies. Standard agency protocol for protecting the safety of employees should be made available to students at the outset of the field placements. Students are expected to participate in agency training regarding appropriate safety precautions (i.e., universal precautions, crisis intervention, and emergency protocols) prior to engaging in any activity that is known to pose a safety risk.

13.5 Potential Areas of Litigation

There are many areas of social work practice that may be vulnerable to litigation. Students should discuss the following areas with field instructors early in the placement experience. Any areas of concern that a student feels may create legal liability for the student, program, or the University must be brought to the attention of their Field Liaison, who will then notify the Office of Labor and Legal Affairs, if necessary. The following items should serve as the basis for supervisory field instruction meeting(s) no later than the end of the first month of placement:

- Disclosure of student status
- Guidelines for seeking consultation, referral, and supervisory field instruction
- Guidelines for securing proper/informed consent for treatment
Establishing criteria for accurate/adequate record keeping
Protocol for assessing and intervening in cases where there is a suspected risk of harm including warning third parties of risk
Confidentiality
Guidelines for proper transfer and termination of cases
Guidelines for securing appropriate referrals
Guidelines for securing treatment with third party payees
Guidelines for sharing information with appropriate consents
Guidelines for securing coverage of cases when the intern is unavailable

13.6 Professional Liability Insurance

Professional Liability Insurance is provided through Chicago State University. All students will be reasonably insured against certain acts or omissions that may occur in the performance of their assigned duties in practicum. The fee to cover the cost of professional liability insurance is included in the student fee. If an agency requires proof of liability insurance coverage provided for the student by the university, the agency must complete the request form found in the appendix of this manual as well as on the website. Return the completed form to Lolita Godbold at lgodbold@csu.edu.

13.7 Student’s Rights to Confidentiality

The University maintains the highest regard for the confidentiality of students. Students must be aware that the Department Director, the Director of Field Education, the Faculty Liaison, and as warranted, the Faculty Field Liaison Committee share information that directly affects student performance in the field practicum. In some cases, the University may request that the information be shared with the field agency. In cases where it has been determined by the faculty member or the student that information is sensitive, the student will be asked to provide a written release of information to the Director of Field Education. This release shall contain the specific parameters of the information to be shared (to whom, for what purpose, duration). Students have the right to provide or withhold permission for release of information. The University retains the right to suspend and/or terminate the field practicum if the student poses a foreseeable risk to clients.

13.8 Statement from Abilities Office

Any student who believes that they may have a disability and therefore, need reasonable accommodations to fully participate in this course should contact the Abilities Office. Students must formally register with the Abilities Office in order to receive approved accommodations. The Abilities Office is located in the Cordell Reed Student Union Building, Suite 190. We can be reached during business hours at 773.995.2383, we can also be reached by email at abilities@csu.edu or please visit our website at https://www.csu.edu/dosa/abilities/. Please note that accommodations may be requested at any time, but any accommodation granted will not be retroactive.
STATEMENTS OF NON-DISCRIMINATION

Chicago State University supports the principles of equal opportunity in employment and education. The University seeks to ensure that no person will encounter discrimination in employment or education on the basis of age, color, disability, sex, national origin, race, religion, sexual orientation, or veteran’s status. This policy is applicable to both the employment practices and administration of programs and activities within the University. It is the policy of the University that no person shall be excluded from the participation, be denied the benefits of, or in any way be subject to discrimination in any program or activity in the University. The Equal Employment Opportunity (EEO) Office handles complaints of discrimination. Any employee or student may at any time contact the EEO Office for purposes of advice, discussion of an alleged discrimination complaint and/or assistance in undertaking a formal or informal resolution of a complaint. The Office is located in the Cook Administration Building, Room 318, 773-9952462.

POLICY ON SEXUAL HARASSMENT IN THE CAMPUS COMMUNITY

Chicago State University explicitly condemns sexual harassment of students, staff and faculty. Sexual harassment is unlawful and may be subject to university sanctions as well as civil penalties. Harassment on the basis of sex is a violation of Sec. 703 of Title VII and the State of Illinois Human Rights Act.

Sexual harassment has been defined as:

Any unwelcome sexual advances, request for sexual favors and other verbal and physical conduct of a sexual nature. It includes instances when such conduct is indicated to be a term or condition of an individual's academic or employment decisions, interferes with an individual's academic or employment performance, or creates an intimidating, hostile or offensive academic or employment environment.

Chicago State University recognizes its obligation to provide for students and employees an atmosphere free of sexual harassment and has established the following policy and will take whatever action is needed to prevent, stop, correct, and/or discipline behavior that violates this policy. The University reserves the right to discipline individuals including but not limited to, oral or written warnings, demotion, transfer, suspension, or dismissal for cause in accordance with the Faculty Bargaining guidelines, Article 14, the BGU guidelines regulating Administrators' conduct, the State Universities Civil Service Merit System rules and the provisions of the CSU Student Conduct Code.

In order to resolve complaints of this nature, CSU will adhere to the legal definitions as well as to the ethical standards of professional behavior that should exist in an academic environment.

Any form of threat, intimidation or retaliation against individuals filing a complaint, or against witnesses and/or any other staff involved in the investigating process, shall constitute a separate violation and shall be subject to direct administrative action.

Commonly Asked Questions

Q: What is the difference between Generalist and specialization placements?
A: Generalist placements take place during the first year and specialization placements take place during the second year of a full-time program. For part-time students, the Generalist placement occurs during the second year and specialization placements during the third year.

Generalist placements provide students the opportunity to apply the generalist model to practice as they assess and develop or enhance their beginning level practice skills with individuals, families, groups, communities and organizations. First year students are required to work directly with clients. Specialization placements allow students to work within their area of Specialization where they are expected to take on more complex practice tasks, function more independently and demonstrate specialization skills e.g. multi-system assessments and multi-modal interventions or program development.

Q: Can I choose my own field placement?
A: Students may research and identify agencies/placements in which they are interested. However, students may not interview with potential field agencies without prior approval from the Director of Field. The more restrictions placed on the type of field placement (e.g. hours or days available, geographic location or population served), the more difficult it will be to find a field placement that meets graduate program standards. If the placement is not one where an affiliation agreement is already in place, the application to become a field placement must by complete by March 30th. For additional information, students are encouraged to contact the field director.

Q: Can I do my field placement where I work?
A: Yes, however, in addition to the regular Application for Field, students must submit a Work Site application and have the field placement approved by the Director of Field. The student must indicate how the field placement will differ from their regular employment since the two cannot be the same. The field instructor must be different from the student’s regular supervisor and have two years post MSW experience. Applications for Work Site field placements are due by March 30th.

Q: When do I start field and how many hours are required?
A. All students must be in good academic standing to enter or remain in Field. The Generalist field is two semesters and totals 400 hours. The specialization field is two semesters and 550 hours. Placements average two days a week, begin in August (the first day of class) and end in May. The School Social Work Specialization requires a minimum of 600 hours and typically ends in June.

Q: I work full time. May I do my field placement during the evenings or on weekends?
A: Evening and weekend only placements are not available. Most agencies have business hours that are 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. with limited evening and weekend hours. Because all of our classes are evening or weekend our class schedules may conflict with the evening hours that the agency is open.

Q: When do the Field Seminars meet?
A: The Field Seminars meet five times per semester from 4:00 - 5:50 p.m. Attendance is required. See the Field Practicum Calendar and Field Liaison for specific dates. Field Seminars do not meet the first week of classes.

Q: When do I pay my fee for professional liability insurance?
A: The fee for liability insurance is included in the student fee. This fee provides 1,000,000/3,000,000 of malpractice blanket liability insurance coverage for the academic year.

Q: When are applications for field due?

A: Applications for field are due by November 1st each year (June 1st for newly admitted full time students).

Please direct all Field related questions to the Director of Field Education, Lolita Godbold at 773-995-2843, lgodbold@csu.edu.

MSW Field Practicum Fact Sheet for Agencies:

Thank you for taking the time to consider providing a field placement for a Chicago State University Master of Social Work student. Our program is accredited by the Council on Social Work Education.

Our program prepares students for specialization social work practice that uses a trauma informed, strength based and family-centered principles in their approach to client systems. Students may specialize in Family Centered Direct Practice, Program Planning and Administration, or School Social Work.

Agencies that serve as practicum sites serve populations that have traditionally been undeserved and considered vulnerable and oppressed such as women, ethnic minorities, the poor, children, people of color, the elderly and persons of diverse religious and sexual orientations. Agencies that would like to provide field placements should align to the Program’s mission to prepare graduate social work students for a lifelong commitment to: competent, evidence informed principled, strengths-based, trauma-informed, and family-centered social work practice; leadership and service to urban communities; addressing human rights issues including social, racial and economic injustice; and to a spirit of inquiry.

First year MSW students complete two semesters and a total of 400 clock hours in the field while second year students complete two semesters and a total of 550 clock hours in the field. Placements average two days a week, begin in August at the beginning of the academic year and end in May. Students in the School Social Work Specialization require a minimum of 600 clock hours.

Generalist placements provide students the opportunity to apply the generalist model to practice as they assess and develop or enhance their beginning level practice skills with individuals, families, groups, communities and organizations. Specialization placements allow students to work within their area of Specialization where they are expected to take on more complex practice tasks, function more independently and demonstrate specializations skills e.g. multi-system assessments and multi-modal interventions or program development.

The majority of our students have several years of experience in social services and are employed during their educational experience. As a result agencies providing quality-learning experiences during evenings and weekends are very much needed.

Field Instructor Requirements

Agencies that would like to provide field placements should identify a Field Instructor who has two years of post-MSW experience and interest in providing educational opportunities for students. The Field Instructor is required to provide one hour per week of supervisory field instruction to the student.
Task Instructors are agency professionals who do not have a Master of Social Work degree but who provide day to day instruction for the student or instruction on specific tasks. The agency still identifies someone with a Master of Social Work degree to provide the MSW supervisory field instruction. In this case the role of the MSW Field Instructor helps the student with socialization to the Social Work profession and integration of Social Work Theory with practice.

If your agency would like to be added to our directory of field practicum sites or to request further information on our program please Contact: Lolita Godbold, Director of Field Education, 773-995-2843, 9501 South King Drive, Science #116 A, Chicago, IL 60628.

Generalist and Specialization Placements: Understanding the Difference

Our program prepares students for specialization social work practice that uses strength-based and family-centered principles in their approach to client systems. Please refer to the beginning of the Field Manual for a more detailed description of the Family Centered Perspective. Students may choose from: Family Centered Direct Practice, Program Planning and Administration, or School Social Work, as their specialization Specialization.

Generalist placements take place during the first year and total 400 clock hours and specialization placements take place during the second year and total 550 hours. School Social Work placements total 600 clock hours. For part-time students, the Generalist placement occurs during their second year and specialization placement during their third year.

Generalist placements are where students become socialized to the profession and develop an understanding of social work values, skills and ethics. This is also where students are provided an opportunity to apply the generalist model to practice as they assess and develop or enhance their beginning level practice skills with individuals, families, groups, communities and organizations. We recognize that not all settings provide such a wide range of opportunities but we expect that students and Field Instructors will be creative in identifying potential learning opportunities and utilize this model to conceptualize the work of the agency. The Faculty Field liaison and Field Director are prepared to assist in this process.

One of the most important things for Field Instructors to do is to help students “label their learning experiences.” Student should be able to articulate the practice principles and knowledge that informs their practice activities. This is true in Generalist and specialization placements.

Specialization placements allow students to practice within their area of Specialization where they are expected to take on more complex practice tasks, function more independently and demonstrate specialization skills in multi-system assessments and multi-modal interventions or program development. Specialization students are expected to be able to initiate some structured evaluation of practice research and understand and assess the impact of discrimination and oppression on client systems and advocate for change when possible.

Specialization- Program Planning and Administration includes but is not limited to the following activities: Program planning, evaluation, quality improvement, client satisfaction surveys, research, grant writing, fundraising, resource development, community assessment, needs assessment, board and volunteer development, strategic planning, public policy and advocacy, staff development, training, review and development of policies and procedures, development of manuals, project management, special events, attending board and other committee meetings, assisting in the preparation of annual and special reports. Students in this Specialization are encouraged to apply the strengths-based family centered perspective to their own analysis and plan even if it is not specified in the agency of practice.

Specialization – Family Centered Direct Practice and School Social Work include but are not limited to the following: At this level, students should be able to utilize a variety of social work practice models and evaluate their utility and limitation with cases of greater complexity, integrate the strengths-based family centered approach to work with individuals and families, make effective use of interdisciplinary teams to accomplish case goals, collaborate effectively with identified constituents to accomplish goals, demonstrate mature professional judgment in planning and implementing collaborative interventions in the context of complex systems.

| NASW Code of Ethics |

Preamble

The primary mission of the social work profession is to enhance human well-being and help meet the basic human needs of all people, with particular attention to the needs and empowerment of people who are vulnerable, oppressed, and living in poverty. A historic and defining feature of social work is the profession's dual focus on individual well-being in a social context and the well-being of society. Fundamental to social work is attention to the environmental forces that create, contribute to, and address problems in living.

Social workers promote social justice and social change with and on behalf of clients. “Clients” is used inclusively to refer to individuals, families, groups, organizations, and communities. Social workers are sensitive to cultural and ethnic diversity and strive to end discrimination, oppression, poverty, and other forms of social injustice. These activities may be in the form of direct practice, community organizing, supervision, consultation, administration, advocacy, social and political action, policy development and implementation, education, and research and evaluation. Social workers seek to enhance the capacity of people to address their own needs. Social workers also seek to promote the responsiveness of organizations, communities, and other social institutions to individuals’ needs and social problems.

The mission of the social work profession is rooted in a set of core values. These core values, embraced by social workers throughout the profession's history, are the foundation of social work's unique purpose and perspective:

- service
- social justice
- dignity and worth of the person
- importance of human relationships
- integrity
- competence.

This constellation of core values reflects what is unique to the social work profession. Core values, and the principles that flow from them, must be balanced within the context and complexity of the human experience.

Purpose of the NASW Code of Ethics

Professional ethics are at the core of social work. The profession has an obligation to articulate its basic values, ethical principles, and ethical standards. The NASW Code of Ethics sets forth these values, principles, and standards to guide social workers’ conduct. The Code is relevant to all social workers and social work students, regardless of their professional functions, the settings in which they work, or the populations they serve.

The NASW Code of Ethics serves six purposes:

1. The Code identifies core values on which social work’s mission is based.
2. The Code summarizes broad ethical principles that reflect the profession’s core values and establishes a set of specific ethical standards that should be used to guide social work practice.
3. The Code is designed to help social workers identify relevant considerations when professional obligations conflict or ethical uncertainties arise.
4. The Code provides ethical standards to which the general public can hold the social work profession accountable.
5. The Code socializes practitioners new to the field to social work’s mission, values, ethical principles, and ethical standards, and encourages all social workers to engage in self-care, ongoing education, and other activities to ensure their commitment to those same core features of the profession.
6. The Code articulates standards that the social work profession itself can use to assess whether social workers have engaged in unethical conduct. NASW has formal procedures to adjudicate ethics complaints filed against its members.* In subscribing to this Code, social workers are required to cooperate in its implementation, participate in NASW adjudication proceedings, and abide by any NASW disciplinary rulings or sanctions based on it.

The Code offers a set of values, principles, and standards to guide decision making and conduct when ethical issues arise. It does not provide a set of rules that prescribe how social workers should act in all situations. Specific applications of the Code must take into account the context in which it is being considered and the possibility of conflicts among the Code’s values, principles, and standards. Ethical responsibilities flow from all human relationships, from the personal and familial to the social and professional.

* For information on the NASW Professional Review Process, see NASW Procedures for Professional Review.

Furthermore, the NASW Code of Ethics does not specify which values, principles, and standards are most important and ought to outweigh others in instances when they conflict. Reasonable differences of opinion can and do exist among social workers with respect to the ways in which values, ethical principles, and ethical standards should be rank ordered when they conflict. Ethical decision making in a given situation must apply the informed judgment of the individual social worker and should also consider how the issues would be judged in a peer review process where the ethical standards of the profession would be applied.

Ethical decision making is a process. In situations when conflicting obligations arise, social workers may be faced with complex ethical dilemmas that have no simple answers. Social workers should take into consideration all the values, principles, and standards in this Code that are relevant to any situation in which ethical judgment is warranted. Social workers’ decisions and actions should be consistent with the spirit as well as the letter of this Code.

In addition to this Code, there are many other sources of information about ethical thinking that may be useful. Social workers should consider ethical theory and principles generally, social work theory and research, laws, regulations, agency policies, and other relevant codes of ethics, recognizing that among codes of ethics social workers should consider the NASW Code of Ethics as their primary source. Social workers also should be aware of the impact on ethical decision making of their clients’ and their own personal values and cultural and religious beliefs and practices. They should be aware of any conflicts between personal and professional values and deal with them responsibly. For additional guidance social workers should consult the relevant literature on professional ethics and ethical decision making and seek appropriate consultation when faced with ethical dilemmas. This may involve consultation with an agency-based or social work organization’s ethics committee, a regulatory body, knowledgeable colleagues, supervisors, or legal counsel.

Instances may arise when social workers’ ethical obligations conflict with agency policies or relevant laws or regulations. When such conflicts occur, social workers must make a responsible effort to resolve the conflict in a manner that is consistent with the values, principles, and standards expressed in this Code. If a reasonable resolution of the conflict does not appear possible, social workers should seek proper consultation before making a decision. The NASW Code of Ethics is to be used by NASW and by individuals, agencies, organizations, and bodies (such as licensing and regulatory boards, professional liability insurance providers, courts of law, agency boards of directors, government agencies, and other professional groups) that choose to adopt it or use it as a frame of reference. Violation of standards in this Code does not automatically imply legal liability or violation of the law.

Such determination can only be made in the context of legal and judicial proceedings. Alleged violations of the Code would be subject to a peer review process. Such processes are generally separate from legal or administrative procedures and insulated from legal review or proceedings to allow the profession to counsel and discipline its own members.

A code of ethics cannot guarantee ethical behavior. Moreover, a code of ethics cannot resolve all ethical issues or disputes or capture the richness and complexity involved in striving to make responsible choices within a moral community. Rather, a code of ethics sets forth values, ethical principles, and ethical standards to which professionals aspire and by which their actions can be judged. Social workers’ ethical behavior should result from their personal commitment to engage in ethical practice. The NASW Code of Ethics reflects the commitment of all social workers to uphold the profession’s values and to act ethically. Principles and standards must be applied by individuals of good character who discern moral questions and, in good faith, seek to make reliable ethical judgments.

With growth in the use of communication technology in various aspects of social work practice, social workers need to be aware of the unique challenges that may arise in relation to the maintenance of confidentiality, informed consent, professional boundaries, professional competence, record keeping, and other ethical considerations. In general, all ethical standards in this Code of Ethics are applicable to interactions, relationships, or communications, whether they occur in person or with the use of technology. For the purposes of this Code, “technology-assisted social work services” include any social work services that involve the use of computers, mobile or landline telephones, tablets, video technology, or other electronic or digital technologies; this includes the use of various electronic or digital platforms, such as the Internet, online social media, chat rooms, text messaging, e-mail and emerging digital applications. Technology-assisted social work services encompass all aspects of social work practice, including psychotherapy; individual, family, or group counseling; community organization; administration; advocacy; mediation; education; supervision; research; evaluation; and other social work services. Social workers should keep apprised of emerging technological developments that may be used in social work practice and how various ethical standards apply to them.

Professional self-care is paramount for competent and ethical social work practice. Professional demands, challenging workplace climates, and exposure to trauma warrant that social workers maintain personal and professional health, safety, and integrity. Social work organizations, agencies, and educational institutions are encouraged to promote organizational policies, practices, and materials to support social workers’ self-care.

Ethical Principles

The following broad ethical principles are based on social work's core values of service, social justice, dignity and worth of the person, importance of human relationships, integrity, and competence. These principles set forth ideals to which all social workers should aspire.

Value: Service

Ethical Principle: Social workers’ primary goal is to help people in need and to address social problems. Social workers elevate service to others above self-interest. Social workers draw on their knowledge, values, and skills to help people in need and to address social problems. Social workers are encouraged to volunteer some portion of their professional skills with no expectation of significant financial return (pro bono service).

Value: Social Justice

Ethical Principle: Social workers challenge social injustice. Social workers pursue social change, particularly with and on behalf of vulnerable and oppressed individuals and groups of people. Social workers' social change efforts are focused primarily on issues of poverty, unemployment, discrimination, and other forms of social injustice. These activities seek to promote sensitivity to and knowledge about oppression and cultural and ethnic diversity. Social workers strive to ensure access to needed information, services, and resources; equality of opportunity; and meaningful participation in decision making for all people.

Value: Dignity and Worth of the Person

Ethical Principle: Social workers respect the inherent dignity and worth of the person. Social workers treat each person in a caring and respectful fashion, mindful of individual differences and cultural and ethnic diversity. Social workers promote clients' socially responsible self-determination. Social workers seek to enhance clients' capacity and opportunity to change and to address their own needs. Social workers are cognizant of their dual responsibility to clients and to the broader society. They seek to resolve conflicts between clients' interests and the broader society's interests in a socially responsible manner consistent with the values, ethical principles, and ethical standards of the profession.

Value: Importance of Human Relationships
Ethical Principle: Social workers recognize the central importance of human relationships. Social workers understand that relationships between and among people are an important vehicle for change. Social workers engage people as partners in the helping process. Social workers seek to strengthen relationships among people in a purposeful effort to promote, restore, maintain, and enhance the well-being of individuals, families, social groups, organizations, and communities.

Value: Integrity
Ethical Principle: Social workers behave in a trustworthy manner. Social workers are continually aware of the profession's mission, values, ethical principles, and ethical standards and practice in a manner consistent with them. Social workers should take measures to care for themselves professionally and personally. Social workers act honestly and responsibly and promote ethical practices on the part of the organizations with which they are affiliated.

Value: Competence
Ethical Principle: Social workers practice within their areas of competence and develop and enhance their professional expertise. Social workers continually strive to increase their professional knowledge and skills and to apply them in practice. Social workers should aspire to contribute to the knowledge base of the profession.

Ethical Standards

The following ethical standards are relevant to the professional activities of all social workers. These standards concern (1) social workers' ethical responsibilities to clients, (2) social workers' ethical responsibilities to colleagues, (3) social workers' ethical responsibilities in practice settings, (4) social workers' ethical responsibilities as professionals, (5) social workers' ethical responsibilities to the social work profession, and (6) social workers' ethical responsibilities to the broader society. Some of the standards that follow are enforceable guidelines for professional conduct, and some are aspirational. The extent to which each standard is enforceable is a matter of professional judgment to be exercised by those responsible for reviewing alleged violations of ethical standards.
